POWDER and SYRUP, just received. To the many inquirers for this article we would say, that we are now prepared to answer their orders, by giving them the grantine article. Those afflicted with Coughs, Colds, Dispersia, Liver Complaints, or any affection of the lungs, will find in this truly celebrated medicine a saveroign remedy.—From the great and increasing demand, and the abundant testimony of its wonderful effects, it may safely be said to be, without exception, decidedly, the best article before the public. The operation of it upon the patient is neculiarly mild and arge, and those awful symptoms which indicate a diseased state of the lungs readily yield to its influence, if greatonably resorted to. Consumption and Liver complaint As a general emedy for these diseases, I am fully satisfied, from long experience, there is no mericine equal to Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort. Being purely vegetable, it can be used with the utmost safety by all persons in every condition. It cleanses the lungs by expectoration, relieves difficult breathing, and seems to heal the chest. There can be no question, but this medicine is a certain cure for chronic coughs and colds. I have used it for four years in my prac tice, and always with success.

A. F. ROGERS, M. D.

Consumption!—The following remarks were taken from the last number of the Medical Magazine: "The surprising effect produced by Dr. Taylor's Bal-am of Liverwart, in consumptive cases, cannot fail exciting a deep and thrilling interest throughout the world. We have so long believed this disease [consumption] incurable, that it is difficult to credit our senses when we see persons evidently eq. nump-tive, restored to health. Yet this is a fact of daily occurrence; how then can we question the virtue of the above medicine? In our next, we shall be more explicit; meantine we hope physicians with mean trial of this medicine and report its effects to us."

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. From Atkinson's Philadelphia Eve. Post:

Philadelphia, August 16th, 1838. Mr Atkinson.—Dear Sir: It has been my mistortune to labor under a cough and asilmatical oppression, for more than half a century. When a soldier in the American camp, in 1778, I with many others, owing to great exposure, had a violent attack of dicase of the lungs, by which I was disabled from duty for a long time. Since that period until recently, I have never been free from a violent cough and difficulty of treathing. Year after year I have expectorbilly of largy improves effects. They who have adophave never been free from a violent cough and difficulty of breathing. Year after year I have expectorated over a gill a day; often much more, and some times mixed with blood. For months together, night after night, I have had to set or be bolistered up to obtain my breath. The weakness and debility caused by such constant expectoration, frequently brought me to a state bordering on death. It has been amatter of astonishment to my family and friends, that I am here to write this to you. I have hals killful physicians to attend me, and every thing done that was thought likely to give me relief, without any bandicial effect. Last winter I had another very severe attack of inflamation of the lungs, which I fully expected would be the fast. I then considered my case as past the aid of medicine, when I was persuaded to pecterant. I did so, with a strong hope that as it had cured many of my nequalitances of various discases of the lungs, it might at least nitigate my suf-ferings. Need I say how gratified I feel? It has effectually cured me. As soon as I cummenced taking it, I found it reached my case, and I began to breath with more freedom. My expectoration be-ity, and implicit confidence may be placed in his as-ertions. -- Editor of the Post.
